Family Math Night To Go

We have a family math night each year. One of our most popular events is the restaurant. We make up menus, set up tables and chairs and have bags of money already made up (simple for k-2 and more difficult for 3-5).

Family Math Night at school is a way to invite parents and siblings into the classroom and allow them to be part of the learning. Activities for this event in elementary school classrooms should be entertaining, familiar to the students in the class and easily adaptable to people of various ages and levels of education.

The first step was to change the traditional math night to STEM night. STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering and Math) is not a well-known acronym at my school. This change not only broadened the types of activities we could feature, it served as a catalyst for great discussions among teachers and parents regarding curriculum.

Our family has longtime been a fan of the fondue night. It's a tradition for us to make this dinner on New Year's Day and Valentine's Day, and often the kids will choose to have fondue for their birthday dinner as well.. Fondue is a lot of fun, but I must be clear: it's not just a dinner—it's an event.. It takes time to shop for fondue, prep fondue, and slowly enjoy fondue.

We are having a Books and Blankets Family Literacy Night tomorrow. I am not doing door prizes this time. Each family will receive a family literacy folder with reading strategies, log, book mark and tattoos (for some reason I have about 1000 sheets of tattoos and I figure this is a good way to get rid of them ;)).
