Experiment Gravimetric Analysis 2

Gravimetric analysis is a quantitative method for accurately determining the amount of a substance by selective precipitation of the substance from an aqueous solution. The precipitate is separated from the remaining aqueous solution by filtration and is then weighed. Assuming that the chemical formula for the precipitate is known and that the precipitation reaction goes all the way to ...

Discussion of gravimetric determination of chloride: The percentage of Chloride in the known sodium chloride salt and the unknown sample was determined to be 65.40% and 24.977% respectively via gravimetric method. In theory, the percentage of chloride in sodium chloride salt is 60.66%.

Gravimetric Determination of Chloride | Lab Report

We can conclude that gravimetric analysis was indeed an effective but tedious way to analysis an element and gravimetric analysis usually only provides for the analysis of a single element, or a limited group of elements, at a time. In addition, a slight mis-step in a procedure can often mean disaster for the analysis.
